

Update 31: Indonesia - Reports Highest Daily Increase of 4,262 New COVID-19 Cases, Raising National Total to 433,836

- Indonesia recorded 4,262 new confirmed cases of coronavirus on November 7, 2020, the highest daily rise in more than two weeks, to take the country's total to 433,836, according to the latest Health Ministry data
- The seven-day average has been climbing in the last three days after a steady decline for several weeks to indicate that the country has been past its first peak
- Health officials have warned earlier that the five-day weekend in late October could trigger a surge in new cases during the two weeks that followed as many people ignored advices to stay at home
- Four provinces in Java continue to become key contributors to the daily surge, with Jakarta returning to the four-digit daily number
- The capital city, home to 25 percent of nationwide infections, has recorded 1,118 new cases in the last 24 hours, the highest one-day rise since Oct. 12. It has a total of 111,201 cases, including 2,357 deaths
- As of now, the country has reported 437,716 confirmed COVID-19 cases with 14,614 deaths (3.3% of total reported cases) and 368,298 recoveries (84.1% of total reported cases)
- Supply Wisdom is continuously monitoring the situation and will alert you to any relevant developments
