Update 62: Shanghai, China - Imposes Quarantine for Travelers from High-Risk Areas to Curb the Spread of COVID-19 Infections

- People traveling to Shanghai from high COVID-19 risk areas are required to report to residential communities or designated hotels within 12 hours upon arrival and undergo a 14-day quarantine
- City's epidemic prevention and control office said that individuals must be quarantined at designated facilities for 14 days and take two COVID-19 tests
- People from middle-risk areas are encouraged to stay in and avoid going out unless necessary
- They should also report their health condition every day and take two COVID-19 tests
- The office also instructed public institutions such as schools and universities to adopt stricter prevention measures and urged citizens not to travel to middle or high-risk areas within China or overseas
- Shanghai is a global center for finance, innovation, and a national center for commerce, and transportation, with the busiest container port -the Port of Shanghai
- Reported COVID-19 stats for China:

  1. Confirmed Cases: 92,875
  2. Deaths: 4,636 (4.99%)
  3. Recoveries 87,307 (94.00 %)
  4. Vaccine Doses Administered: 1,601,249,000
  5. Fully Vaccinated: 223,299,000 (15.9%)
